

Where Community-Owned Research Shines

ddh.diamas.org

Diamond Discovery Hub in a nutshell

The Diamond Discovery Hub (DDH) is a community-owned and operated service that validates and lists European Diamond Journals, promoting their visibility and recognition.

Six Diamond OA Criteria

Five facets of the DDH

- 1 Diamond OA criteria
- 2 Data workflows & interoperability for reuse
- 3 Community service, open for all
- 4 Trusted sources for the common good
- 5 Editorial effort based on IPSP partnerships

Sustainability

The Diamond Discovery Hub (DDH) was developed through the CRAFT-OA project (2022-2025) and will be community-managed through the European Diamond Capacity Hub (EDCH: diamas.org).

EDCH

Poster Authors: Janne Pölönen (Federation of Finnish Learned Societies); Kelly Achenbach (Max Weber Stiftung); Margo Bargheer (Georg-August-Universität Göttingen); Tabea Klaus (Georg-August-Universität Göttingen); Hanna Varachkina (Georg-August-Universität Göttingen); Yin Chen (EGI Foundation)

Funded by the European Union

Developed by:

Sustained by:

